

Abe Martin Lodge Hotel details

The Abe Martin Lodge is nestled in the picturesque hills of Indiana's largest state park.

Located just outside Nashville, Indiana, Abe Martin Lodge is located within the 16,000 acre Brown County State Park. Here you can visit some of Indiana's most beautiful landscapes by foot, horse or car. There is plenty to keep you busy both indoors and in the park. Enjoy the Lodge's water park with twisting slides and lazy rivers, play some games in the game room or sit by the fireplace and open a good book. While in the park, you can enjoy miles of hiking and bike trails along with tennis and basketball courts or take a dip in the outdoor pool. You can climb a 90 foot fire tower or check out Park's Nature Center. Don't forget to check out Nashville with its arts and crafts shopping and local wineries.

The lodge features 84 rooms, the Little Gem Restaurant, cabins, and an indoor water park.

Amenities:

A Weekend Retreat for Spiritual Renewal

Susan Payne is the development director at Adventist Frontier Missions, guiding donor ministry for 20 years.

She has enjoyed several careers throughout her lifetime as a registered nurse, home-schooling mother and missionary to Papua New Guinea. Throughout her travels, she has conducted seminars in Brazil, the UK, South Africa, and PNG.

One of her greatest passions is watching Jesus set people free from the snares of the enemy. She also enjoys nature, hiking, healing remedies, and cooking.

Susan and her husband of 43 years reside in Berrien Springs, MI. They are family to two delightful daughters, two great sons-in-law, two energetic granddaughters, and more than two "adopted" sons and daughters they call "family."

She looks forward to singing praises to the Creator and Savior of the universe on the sea of glass with people from every nation, kindred, tribe and tongue.
